

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS USING @CNETDIRECT.COM

The domain name "cnetdirect.com" has been sold to another company. If you are one of the few remaining people using @cnetdirect.com as your e-mail address, please change it in your settings to @fsjames.com as soon as you can.

Start Outlook (you do not need to be online):

Change @cnetdirect.com to @fsjames.com. On the SERVER page (*), check to see that your incoming and outgoing servers are set to:

mail.fsjames.com

This is all you need to do. When you send out mail it will tell everyone your correct address. You may also need to re-subscribe to any mailing lists you have joined. The buyer has agreed to forward mail for one month. Any mail sent to your old address will go to your new address automatically. After that mail to your old address will bounce as no such user.

If you have business cards or stationery printed with your @cnetdirect.com address, bring your remaining printed goods to Max Internet and we will arrange to replace them at a reduced rate.
